

I am extremely apposed to use of cellular phones in flight. I feel this could pose a safety issue and also a great annoyance to other pasengers. I can't imagine sitting beside someone for hours while they talk on a phone in limited space. What amount of air rage could this cause.

Thanks